"Looking north on the Hudson River from West Point (Seth Eastman, 1875)"

We welcome you to the beautiful Lower Hudson Valley! All conference events will be held at the Crowne Plaza Suffern-Mahwah Hotel in Suffern, NY (3 Executive Blvd, Suffern NY 10901).

A short distance from the conference hotel are many of New York's State's most notably historic military sites such as but not limited to: West Point, Fort Montgomery and the site of Fort Clinton, Fort Constitution, Iona Island, and Sterling Forest. A breakfast buffet on Saturday and Sunday mornings as well as Saturday buffet lunch at the hotel is available for advanced purchase only with your conference registration. The Saturday evening banquet and awards ceremony will also take place at the conference hotel.

Featured banquet speaker is Richard Veit, Ph.D., Associate Dean for Faculty Affairs in the Wayne D. McMurray School of Humanities and Social Sciences and Professor of Anthropology at Monmouth University.

"A Monument to fallen Royalty": Rediscovering Joseph Bonaparte's Point Breeze Estate in Bordentown, New Jersey, will discuss recent archaeological excavations in Bordentown, New Jersey that have unearthed the remains of Joseph Bonaparte's palatial estate, Point Breeze. Joseph, the elder brother of Napoleon Bonaparte and former King of Spain and Naples, fled to the United States in 1815. He lived in New Jersey from 1816 until 1839
